

BORIS KOCHEISHVILI

BORIS KOCHEISHVILI

The distinguished Moscow-based artist and poet is renowned for his prolific creative output in graphics and paintings, pioneering a novel form of a classical easel sculptural relief. Today, all these types of works are represented in a number of leading museum collections. His poetry is regularly featured in literary magazines and almanacs.

Boris Kocheishvili was born in 1940 in Elektrostal, a small industrial town in the Moscow region. In 1962, he graduated from the Moscow Academic Art School. By 1986, his artworks were being presented worldwide.

In the 2010s and 2020s, Kocheishvili held several retrospective solo exhibitions at major museums. In 2013, he presented “Simple Summer” at the State Russian Museum in St. Petersburg, and in 2017, he had a solo exhibition at the Tbilisi MOMA. The State Tretyakov Gallery in Moscow hosted the major solo exhibition “Boris Kocheishvili. Me and Them” in 2021.
